

I value the services provided by my independent ISP, especially their excellent support. I hope any consideration of changing the regulating broadband service will not negatively affect the ability of independent ISP's to provide their services.